Sir, we came to live in westfield avenue just of kellington lane 10 years ago to enjoy country life which we have, the house buildings that have been suggested in fields along kellington lane would totally destroy this country feeling, this site was suggested some years ago but was rejected because of high water levels, pylons and cables, traffic congestion at motorway entrances etc. If one looks around i am sure there are plenty of houses for sale in the area and surrounding villages, also the current trend is to rent propertys, would houses be built for rent or be left empty, sir this needs serious thought, certainly the amount of houses suggested.
